Tom Clarkson, 70, Is Bludgeon Victim

Wife Held In Jail For Questioning; Attack Made On Saturday Morning

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

A Lincoln grandmother was jailed Monday night for investigation in connection with the bludgeon "homicide" of her 70-year-old half-paralyzed husband, according to County Attorney Frederick H. Wagener.

The dead man, a county pensioner, was Tom Clarkson of 1021 Saunders. Held at the city jail was Mrs. Clara Clarkson, 61.

Wagener said that Clarkson died at Lincoln General Hospital at 3:45 p. m. Monday from death blows that struck him sometime Saturday morning.

Paralyzed

The dead man had been paralyzed on his left side for some time, Wagener said.

Wagener said that Clarkson was "bludgeoned about the head, shoulders, hands, wrist and left thigh by external violence."

Clarkson, Wagener said, was in shock and semi-conscious when brought to the hospital Saturday.

A Fight

"There was apparently a fight of some kind," Wagener said. "Some stains, which may be bloodstains," he said, "were found in the living room when we inspected the home."

It was believed that Clarkson regained consciousness during his stay in the hospital, but the county attorney and police were not notified until 24 hours after the approximate time the beating occurred.

Wagener said "I can't imagine" why he was not called. He said that it would "merely be speculation" to say that the case might already be solved, if notification had been given earlier of Clarkson's condition.

The instrument, if any, used to deal the blows, has not yet been determined, Wagener said.

Both Lincoln Police and the county attorney's office immediately after the report of the death, rounded up persons for questioning.

The exact time of the fatal blows have not yet been determined, Wagener said.

Dr. J. A. Brown said he received a report from Mrs. Frank Holden of 1601 West O Saturday that Clarkson was injured.

"More than two hours lapsed," Wagener said, "from the time of the injury to the time the ambulance arrived."

The Clarkson had been married 13 years and had lived at 1021 Saunders for about three and a half years.

Clarkson was a retired electrician. He had been a Lincoln resident for more than 20 years.

He is survived by an unidentified son and daughter, a stepdaughter, Mrs. Mabel Holden, and a step-son, Merle Bailey, both of Lincoln and seven grandchildren.

Mud Scooped From Streets At Walthill

Operation mud and muck kept Walthill residents busy Monday in the wake of a flash flood from a normally small stream, Omaha Creek. More than four inches of rain at Walthill together with clouds in nearby areas brought the flood waters. The workers above are scooping mud from the driveway of a Walthill filling station. The overflow crept as far as the intersection shown at right in the town's business district. (Star Staff Photo.)

Petitioners Seek To Put Neville On Senate Ballot

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

A petition was filed with the Secretary of State Monday to put the name of Former Governor Keith Neville on North Platte on the Democratic ballot as a candidate for United States Senator.

Neville has five days, or until noon Saturday, to accept or reject the filing. Acceptance must be in writing and absence of a response is the same as a rejection.

The petition and receipt for the $50 filing fee was delivered by a committee headed by James J. Fitzgerald, W. B. Hargleroad Jr., and Joseph T. Votava of Omaha and Mr. and Mrs. A. Clifford Anderson of Lincoln.

The petition signatures were obtained by a statewide committee of 32 prominent Democrats. While only 25 petition signatures are required the list filed contained 116 names.

"We believe Keith Neville is especially well qualified by reason of the record he made as an intelligent and efficient governor of Nebraska," said a statement released by the committee. "He is a substantial, successful businessman of known conservative views."

"His long experience as a farmer and rancher makes him sympathetic to the problems of the Nebraska farmer. He is indignant over the present high tax structure and will fight vigorously for reduction of taxes and economy in government."

Neville acknowledged a month ago that he was "seriously considering" filing. Last week supporters paid the filing fee in his behalf. He has declined to commit himself as to acceptance or rejection.

"We can only hope that Keith Neville will find it possible to accept this filing and serve the people of his state," the committee said.

The only candidate to file for the full term Democratic senatorial nomination is former state senator, Joseph V. Benesch, Omaha.

An earlier move to "draft" James E. Lawrence, editor of the Lincoln Star, for the nomination came to naught when he failed to accept the filing by petition made in his behalf.

Committee members indicated that the Democrats will have a complete slate of candidates for all state offices.

GG Serum Is Rushed To Ansley

... Polio Outbreak

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis announced Monday it is rushing gamma globulin to Ansley, Neb., in supplies sufficient to inoculate everyone in town against polio.

During the past week, the foundation said, the little community of 711 persons has reported five diagnosed cases of polio and four suspect cases.

The mass inoculation will be the first to cover an entire community, the foundation said. Already inoculated are 76 members of an Ansley Bible School where the first cases of polio occurred.

In 1953 Ansley reported only one case of polio from Jan. 1 through June 20.

At Ansley a doctor who commutes daily 15 miles from his home at Broken Bow to this town is handling the inoculation of all the 711 residents.

He is Dr. Clyde W. Wilcox and Monday night he said he thought everything was under control and the job of inoculation would be finished by the end of the week. About 125 children and adults have so far been inoculated, he said.

The presence of five confirmed cases of polio "scared everybody," Dr. Wilcox said "but beyond that there's nothing much exciting about it." Ansley has no resident doctor.

Gamma globulin supplies to combat polio epidemics are being allocated this summer by the Office of Defense Mobilization working through state health officials. Most of the vaccine, derived from human blood, is supplied by the polio foundation.

Neville For Senate Petitioners

Filing a petition to place the name of Keith Neville on the Democratic primary ballot as a candidate for U. S. Senator are from left to right, James J. Fitzgerald, Douglas county attorney; W. B. Hargleroad, Omaha; Mrs. and Mr. A. Clifford Anderson, Lincoln; and Joseph Votava, former U. S. district attorney, Omaha. Roland Luedtke, deputy secretary of state, is accepting the filing for the former governor of Nebraska. (Star Photo.)

Benson Seeks To Check Rising Crop Surpluses

...13% Slash Imposed On '55 Wheat Production

By B. R. ROTHENBERGER
Star Staff Writer

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson Monday impressed the tightest production controls in history in an effort to stem the nation's rising volume of crop surpluses.

The secretary imposed a new 13 per cent reduction on 1955 wheat production, dropping the nation's 63,000,000 wheat acres under 1954 restrictions to 55,000,000.

In the years immediate to the restoration of crop controls national wheat acreage was annually running in excess of 70,000,000.

In addition to the 1955 acreage reduction, Benson directed:

- (1) Cross compliance under which farmers must plant strictly within acreage allotments for all price-supported crops to be eligible for government supports on any single crop.
- (2) Total acreage allotment on all farms where more than 10 acres must be diverted from production of allotment crops next year. If farmers fail to plant within this "total acreage allotment" they will become eligible for price supports.
- (3) A national referendum of wheat farmers July 23 for a vote upon the quota. If the quota is approved, farmers who plant within their acreage allotment will be eligible for the top support price for 1955. If the quota is disapproved those farmers who continue to plant within the acreage allotment will be eligible for supports at 50 per cent of parity. Those who do not cooperate will be ineligible for any supports.
- (4) That later announcements will be made for similar control programs for next year's cotton, major types of tobacco, peanuts, corn, and sugar crops.

The rigid overall controls are designed to keep extra wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, peanut and sugar crop land from being diverted to the production of cash crops such as soybeans, flaxseed, oats, rye, barley, potatoes, dry beans and vegetables.

Reaction of Nebraska farm leaders remained uncertain as to the depth of the economic setback the state would receive out of agriculture should prepare for belt tightening.

"It is impossible to take that much out of farm production without a drop in income," said Chris Milius, president of the Nebraska Farmers Union, observed. "We can't constantly store up surpluses forever. We are above the world market and things are not moving. It looks like a case of either curtailing production or get the price down — or both."

Chris Milius, president of the Nebraska Farmers Union, observed. "We can't constantly store up surpluses forever. We are above the world market and things are not moving. It looks like a case of either curtailing production or get the price down — or both."

Charles B. Clark, head of the Production Adjustment Section of the state ASC office, said he hoped to know in a day or two what Nebraska's statewide acreage allotment will be.

The 13 per cent reduction is national. Nebraska's reduction could be either more or less.

Last year, a 17 per cent acreage cut was ordered nationally but Nebraska's amounted to 20.6 per cent—from 4,551,000 acres in 1953, to 3,660,000 acres for harvest this year.

SEN. SMITH SCORES SMASHING VICTORY

...Jones Trails In Main By 1 To 5

PORTLAND, Me. (AP) — Sen. Margaret Chase Smith won a smashing victory in the Maine primary Monday night from Robert L. Jones—the man with whom she contends Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) apparently tried to defeat her.

The woman senator, who began criticizing McCarthy and his Communist-hunting methods four years ago, piled up an unbeatable lead for the Republican senatorial nomination after little more than half the state's 625 precincts were counted.

At 12 a. m. EST, with returns from 586 polling places, the scoreboard showed:

Smith 87,256, Jones 17,162.

While it was a landslide defeat for Jones, it couldn't be labelled that for the controversial McCarthy. The Wisconsin senator never was a real, concrete issue through the course of the campaign.

It was only at the last minute, on the eve of the primary, that Mrs. Smith produced the claim that McCarthy apparently planted Jones in the race to defeat her.

Whether or not McCarthy had a hand in fostering Jones' candidacy, the people of Maine apparently just weren't concerned. Their choice was pretty much between the senator and Jones as individuals. And Maine likes Mrs. Smith.

Voters of the state, in cities, in farming country, and in small towns out through the land of woods and lakes, made that amply evident from the minute the vote counting began.

And the senator stepped out to a 4 to 1 lead on the basis of the first returns, from 20 precincts. She held the margin when the tally was in from 18 more. She stretched it to 5 to 1 for 60 precincts and then moved into better than a five to one lead when returns rolled in from 120 polling places.

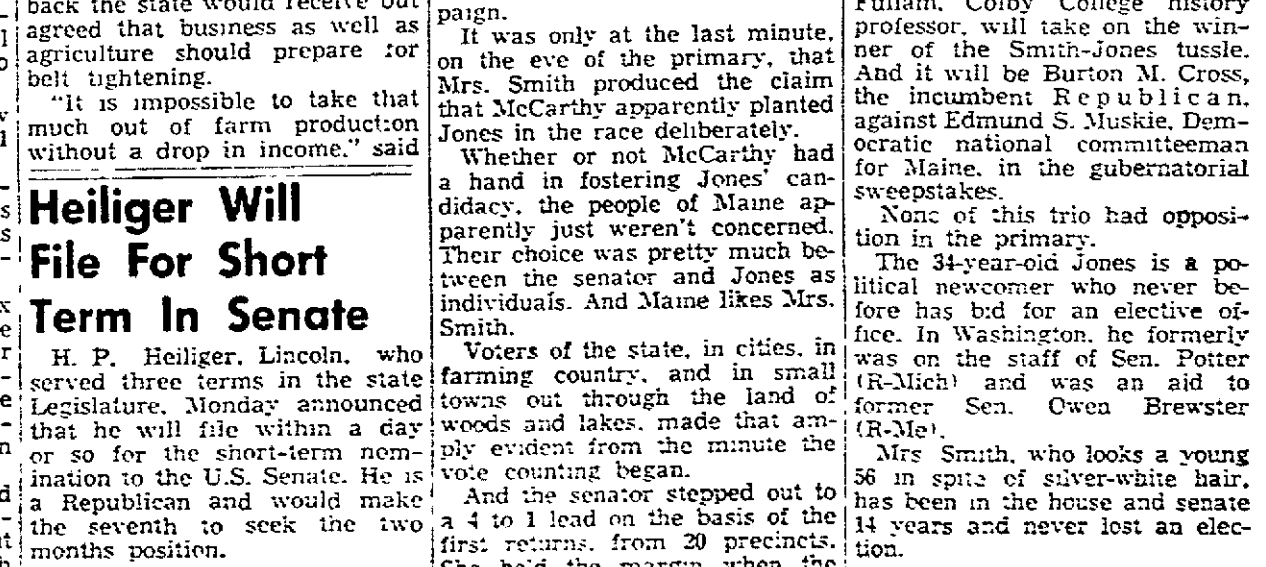

That still was the edge at the moment she clinched her victory. By that time, Jones had managed to carry only two small precincts, while the senator had blanked him without a vote in 18 and come close to it in many more.

Rockland, Maine's premier fishing port, was the first city to turn in a complete vote. It went for Mrs. Smith 1,140 to 155. The shoe manufacturing city of Gardiner was in the Smith camp 1,035 to 257.

The outcome was a resounding vote of confidence for Mrs. Smith's record.

The Smith-Jones battle was the only state-wide contest, aside from local and county races, the only other competition was in the First Congressional District, where Rep. Robert Hale was trying for a seventh term against two opponents and the Democrats entered a two-man field.

In the state's general election in September, Democrat Paul

SEN. MARGARET C. SMITH

Fullam, Colby College history professor, will take on the winner of the Smith-Jones tussle. And it will be Burton M. Cross, the incumbent Republican, against Edmund S. Muskie, Democratic national committeeman for Maine, in the gubernatorial sweepstakes.

None of this trio had opposition in the primary.

The 34-year-old Jones is a political newcomer who never before has bid for an elective office. In Washington, he formerly was on the staff of Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) and was an aid to former Sen. Owen Brewster (R-Me.).

Mrs. Smith, who looks a young 56 in spite of silver-white hair, has been in the house and senate 14 years and never lost an election.

Guatemalan Troops Open Counter-Drive

Victory Pledged Over Invading Rebel Force

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (INS) — The Guatemalan radio announced Monday night that government troops had engaged invading anti-Communist forces in a determined effort to "drive out the traitors' army" from Guatemala.

The radio said troops loyal to the regime of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman encircled Puerto Barrios on the Caribbean coast to prevent the escape of rebel forces from the port city. It added the Army was battling the invaders at Jocotan, near the Honduran border.

Rebel sources said the broadcast statement regarding Puerto Barrios indicated that the government had admitted the fall of the strategic port and rail terminus to the attackers. Previously, the government insisted that the port had not been taken.

The government broadcast admitted that the insurgents captured Esquimulas, famed religious shrine in central Guatemala noted for its "Black Christ" statue.

Rebel informants said the shrine city fell after a five hour skirmish which they described as the first engagement of its kind since the invasion started. They said mortars, machine guns and rifles were used in the fighting.

The rebel forces heard a "victory" mass in Esquimulas and then reportedly headed for Zapapa and Chupimula where stronger fighting was expected.

An insurgent broadcast heard at Belize, in British Honduras, claimed that the invaders had captured 25 Guatemalan villages. The broadcast said the rebels had called on government troops to surrender or face encirclement and destruction.

Other reports said that the rebels cut the railway line between Guatemala City and Puerto Barrios by blowing up bridges at three points along the route.

The Guatemalan drive against the invaders in the three-day-old conflict was launched as a "powerful counter-offensive on all fronts" and in face of a rebellion to surrender or face a bloody war.

A Guatemalan communique said regular troops, held under wraps until now, went into action against the invaders for the first time at 11:45 p. m. Sunday (11:45 p. m. CST Sunday).

Inter-America Group Tables Complaint

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Inter-American Peace Commission Monday agreed to a last-minute Guatemalan request to suspend temporarily its consideration of a Guatemalan complaint alleging a "foreign aggression" against her.

The action was taken at an open meeting of the five-nation group at the Pan-American Union. The decision was unanimous.

The commission, however, made it clear it was not giving up its interest in the charges against Honduras and Nicaragua raised by Guatemala, nor did it acknowledge that the United Nations has complete jurisdiction in the case.

In another Washington development Monday, the State Department said the government of strife-torn Guatemala had pledged to "make every effort" to protect about 1,200 U.S. citizens in the country.

The department spokesman, press officer Lincoln White, said Guatemala also has agreed to let the Americans leave the country if they want to, but "up to the present time this does not appear to be necessary."

Full Power

Other officials said U.S. Ambassador John Peurifoy at Guatemala City has full power to act if evacuation of U.S. citizens should become necessary. They said Peurifoy could recommend any techniques, including air-lifting, he felt was necessary.

Neville Decision Due In 2-3 Days

NORTH PLATTE (AP) — Former Governor Keith Neville said Monday night he would decide within the next two or three days whether he will accept a petition filing to seek the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator full term.

"I will have an announcement before the time limit lapses," he said. He could take until noon Saturday if desired. Petitions calling for him to make the race were filed with the secretary of state at Lincoln Monday afternoon.

More Parking Meters, Higher Rates, Heavier Fines Here Proposed

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

An expanded meter area for parking, higher parking meter rates and increased fines for violation of parking meter time limits have been recommended to the City Council by George Barton, the city's consulting traffic engineer from Chicago, Ill.

In proposing an increase from 5 to 10 cents an hour on meter rates in the central business district, Barton touched on the recently hot issue of off-street parking facilities in the city.

"Commercial (off-street) parking rates," Barton said, "now range from 10 to 20 cents for the first hour. By comparison, far more convenient parking space is available in Lincoln on the street in front of the downtown stores at a rate of 5 cents an hour."

The curb parking space in downtown Lincoln is the most costly in the city, in terms of the value of land, the cost of construction and maintenance and the interference to traffic circulation. As long as parking at the curb is both cheaper and more convenient than off-street parking, what inducement is there to use less convenient and more costly off-street parking?

"It is believed that commercial parking facilities, potential municipal parking facilities and the city bus system cannot attain their maximum success as long as parking at the curb in the heart of the downtown district is subsidized."

Barton pointed out what he termed the "inequitable" rate for curb parking of 5 cents an hour on one-hour meters and 10 cents an hour on 30-minute meters.

36% Violation

Pointing to a 36 per cent violation of parking meter time limits in the downtown area, Barton suggested the city establish a sliding fine scale starting at $1 for the first offense, $3 for the second and $5 for each offense thereafter within one calendar year.

"To avoid the waste of excessive police man power on parking enforcements and to produce a higher voluntary obedience to time limits," Barton stated, "cities generally are increasing the scale of fines for violations of curb parking time limits."

An extension of the metered area was recommended by Barton with the installation in the new area of three or four and one-half hour time limits at the rate of 5 cents for 30 minutes. The new area:

- Q. North side, 6th to 10th, 10th to 14th, 14th to 18th, 18th to 22nd, 22nd to 26th, 26th to 30th, 30th to 34th, 34th to 38th, 38th to 42nd, 42nd to 46th, 46th to 50th.
- Q. South side, 6th to 10th, 10th to 14th, 14th to 18th, 18th to 22nd, 22nd to 26th, 26th to 30th, 30th to 34th, 34th to 38th, 38th to 42nd, 42nd to 46th, 46th to 50th.

A two time limit with a 5 cents an hour rate is recommended for the following metered area:

- Q. North side, 6th to 10th, 10th to 14th, 14th to 18th, 18th to 22nd, 22nd to 26th, 26th to 30th, 30th to 34th, 34th to 38th, 38th to 42nd, 42nd to 46th, 46th to 50th.
- Q. South side, 6th to 10th, 10th to 14th, 14th to 18th, 18th to 22nd, 22nd to 26th, 26th to 30th, 30th to 34th, 34th to 38th, 38th to 42nd, 42nd to 46th, 46th to 50th.

The relocation of certain 30-minute meters, he said, will do much to balance the requirements with the supply.

U.S. CANCER SOCIETY REPORTS:

Heavy Cigarette Smoking Will Shorten Span Of Life

Smokers Run Greater Risk Of Cancer And Heart Attacks, Report Of Mass Study Says

Associated Press Science Reporter
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Smoking a pack or more of cigarettes daily cuts the life span and doubles death rates from cancer and heart attacks in men 50 to 70, the American Cancer Society reported Monday.

Compared with non-smokers, these heavy cigarette smokers run greater risk not only of lung cancer but other types of cancer as well, it said.

The death rate in the age group from all causes among cigarette smokers is 75 per cent higher than among non-smokers.

Strictly speaking, the study applies just to men of this age group. But Cancer Society officials made clear that they feel the findings indicate cigarettes may involve risks also for younger men or for women who smoke.

These are among the "first findings from a mass study seeking to learn any effects from smoking on cancer and other diseases."

It involved interviewing 187,766 healthy men, aged 50 to 70 in nine states, and checking death certificates of 4,054 who have since died.

The results were described to the American Medical Association by Drs. E. Cuyler Hammond and Dan El Horn, director and assistant director, statistical research, of the ACS.

It seemed important. They said they had not expected to have significant results for another year, but that the information already obtained seemed so important it was being announced now.

"We didn't think we should withhold the information for another year. Too many people are interested in it," Dr. Hammond told a news conference.

"Yes, we were thinking of saving lives. It is up to individuals whether they wish to continue smoking or not. No pressure was brought upon us by any one to withhold the report or present it now."

Dr. Charles S. Cameron, medical director of the Cancer Society, said he would "predict some change within the next year in smoking habits and a greater change in the next generation."

He added he would advise teenagers not to start smoking cigarettes. All three men have quit cigarettes—Dr. Horn last November; Dr. Hammond six or eight weeks ago when the reports' statistics were being prepared; and Dr. Cameron a week ago.

Dr. Hammond, who had been smoking three packs a day, and Dr. Horn puffed on pipes at the interview.

Dr. Cameron drew out a cigar, remarking, "I had four of them yesterday."

Their evidence indicates a cause-and-effect, between cigarettes and heart attacks and cancers, they added.

There have been numerous reports previously linking cigarettes with an alarming rise in lung cancer. Numerous experts have said they felt there has been no proof of such a link. Atmospheric pollution also has been suspected as a cause.

The widespread survey to question men as to whether they had ever smoked, practically never smoked, or smoked cigarettes, pipes, cigars or combinations of these was aimed at getting more definite information.

So far, the smoking of just pipes or cigars, or both, shows little or no effect on death rates except perhaps for cancer in general, the report says. But this point needs further study.

The heart and cancer risk seems to rise with cigarette consumption by the men studied, the report finds.

For those who smoked a pack-a-day or more, deaths from heart attacks and cancer rose to double that of non-smokers in some of the age brackets between 50 and 70.

Power Work At City Hall $430

Additional power facilities for the City Hall are to be constructed at a cost of $470 to the city.

The City Council has approved installation of a new power switch at the City Hall, blown out last week when the Hall circuit became overloaded. Fourth floor air conditioning units installed last summer are the cause of the overloading, according to the city engineering department.

The new switch will be installed by the city with the Commercial Light Department bringing the power into the City Hall through an overhead line from the transformer on 9th just west of the Hall.

Council Gives 90 Day Repair Notice

The City Council has given a 90-day notice to the property owner involved to either remove or repair structures at 942 and 943 No. 27th.

Hearing on condemnation of the buildings was held Monday with the city building inspector deeming the structures a "nuisance" and a danger to public health, welfare and safety.

The Council set the date of July 19 for hearing on the condemnation of buildings at 925 West 2nd.

Employee Delegates Urge Salary Hikes For All State Institutions

Delegations from the various state institutions A. F. of L. unions met with Gov. Robert Crosby and the board of control Monday to urge that salary scales be increased. Ted Fontaine, union representative, was spokesman.

Fontaine argued that starting salaries are too low. In some instances, he said, they figured less than 60 cents per hour. He urged a minimum of not less than $170 per month with a $30 increase in all classification grades.

Merely increasing the starting wage would be unfair, he said because then new employees would get more than some workers who have been employed a couple of years.

Not Uniform
Some of the delegates complained that the present wage scale is not a "merit system" because it takes 10 years for some workers to reach the maximum of their grade. They indicated that "merit increases" are not granted uniformly.

Chairman W. H. Diers of the board of control said that "merit increases" are approved on the recommendation of the superintendents and it would require an examination of each individual case to determine why the superintendents did not believe the worker merited an increase.

It was argued that low salaries were responsible for a large turnover of employees in the institutions, but when the delegation was polled by Gov. Crosby all said they had been employed at least two years and two said they had been working 12 years with several 6, 8 and 10 years.

One delegate pointed out that the ward aids in mental hospitals perform a vital function as they are with the patients 8 hours a day and "know what the patient does, when he does it and how he does it."

The governor explained to the delegation that the Constitution provides that administration of institutions is exclusively a function of the board of control and that he has no authority other than in an advisory capacity.

He told the group that the board has been working on a revised salary scale for more than a week and the task is incomplete. He met with the board later to discuss with them progress on the annual salary revision.

Black Cloud Drops Temp

Residents of the Lincoln area were agreeably surprised early Monday afternoon when a lone black cloud suddenly brought a 15 degree drop in temperatures.

The sudden cooling, accompanied by only a few drops of rain, brought anxious queries about a tornado but none was reported in this area.

Lincoln's temperature dropped from a high of 93 degrees at 1:30 p.m. to 78 at 2:30 p.m. when the next reading was taken.

The forecaster said that the cooler temps will hold through Tuesday with a high temperature in the 80 to 85 bracket. It will be generally fair Tuesday, it was predicted.

Flooding Grows In Iowa

More Than 1,000 Homeless, One Death

DES MOINES (AP)—Angry arms of boiling water reached across Iowa in all directions Monday night in a series of floods which continued to grow as they rolled downstream.

More than a thousand families were homeless, including 500 at Sioux City, 300 at Mason City, 200 at Fort Dodge and scores of others in Des Moines, Webster City and in small towns.

The flood death toll was one lone drowning but the peril was everywhere. Experts said crop, highway and property losses would total "millions of dollars." The U. S. Soil Conservation Service estimated 725,000 acres of Iowa crop land have been under water from heavy rain in 25 north Iowa counties in the June 1-18 period.

National Guard companies were doing emergency flood duty at Fort Dodge and Webster City. In Sioux City, where the evacuations were purely precautionary, police patrolled a large residential section threatened by a new crest bearing down the Floyd River.

Mounting Threat

The entire Des Moines River basin, which cuts through the heart of Iowa past Fort Dodge, Boone and Des Moines, was alerted to the mounting threat. Crests were expected to equal or pass records set in June of 1947.

Fort Dodge was hit Sunday night by a seven-inch deluge almost simultaneous with arrival of a flood crest from upstream. Water was still deep in many residences.

The Iowa Weather Bureau, with still more thundershowers forecast for the next 24 hours, called the situation "extremely serious."

Summer camps near Boone, 40 miles northeast of Des Moines, were keeping their youngsters on high ground. A record crest of 21½ feet is due at Boone Wednesday.

The state closed Ledges Park at Boone, Doliver Park at Fort Dodge and Higgins Park at Cedar Falls because of severe flooding.

In Des Moines, where a Sunday night cloudburst made 50 to 100 families temporarily homeless along Four Mile Creek, waters receded swiftly Monday. But near record crests on the Des Moines and Raccoon Rivers were predicted for the capital city later in the week.

4 Killed In B-47 Bomber Explosion

SAVANNAH, Ga. (INS)—A giant B-47 stratojet bomber exploded on takeoff at Savannah Monday and four crewmen were killed.

Hunter Air Force Base authorities identified two of the victims as Capt. Clyde E. Copley Jr., of Durham, N.C., and Capt. Robert W. Veers of New Holstein, Wis.

Names of the other two were withheld. Witnesses said the plane exploded three minutes after taking off on a routine training flight. Wreckage was scattered over a mile-wide area.

Marie 'The Body' McDonald Jailed After Auto Crash

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Actress Marie (The Body) McDonald was arrested Monday on suspicion of driving under the influence of narcotics and released later after a tempestuous session with police officers.

The shapely actress also was booked on suspicion of hit-run driving and operating a car without a driver's license after her automobile struck three parked cars and a fourth which was at a traffic light.

She told police she had taken two nembutal and four seconal capsules, and her physician confirmed her statement that he had given her a prescription for the drugs.

Kicks Cop

Miss McDonald attempted to bite two officers who took her to a cell, they said, then took off her shoe and shattered a glass pane. When Lt. John Hankins went to remove her to another cell, he reported, she kicked him in the groin.

Later her husband, wealthy shoe manufacturer Harry Karl, and his attorney called at the station and she was released without bond to appear for arraignment Tuesday morning. As they were leaving the police station, Karl attempted to run down a news reel cameraman and a press photographer, they complained to police.

Miss McDonald and her husband recently were reconciled after a temporary separation. Karl put out the flames when the actress' dress caught fire at a $30,000 Mocambo night club party recently and burned her leg from ankle to knee.

Rechanneling Decision Left Up To Army

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief of the Army Engineers will have to decide whether the Missouri River will be rechanneled to flow under the "dry bridge" at Decatur, Neb.

Senate-House conferees on civil functions appropriations Monday agreed to provide three million dollars for stabilization of the Missouri between Omaha and Sioux City, Ia.

The conferees decided that this money would be spent by the engineers on a basis of urgency and priority to be decided by the chief of engineers.

The House had voted two million dollars for the Omaha-Sioux City stretch, with projects to be determined by the chief of engineers.

The Senate upped the total to three million, but specified that two million be used between Omaha and Decatur bend, which would have rechanneled the river under Decatur bridge.

The bridge was built with private funds some years ago at a spot where the engineers said the river should flow. However, no funds to move the channel have been appropriated and the bridge is now over dry land.

Not Discouraged

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.) said he has discussed his anti-McCarthy resolution with administration officials including White House aids and has "not been too badly discouraged."

East Zone Gets Red 'A' Guns

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The independent newspaper Frankfurter Neue Presse reported Monday night that the first Soviet atomic cannon, topping American A-guns in range, calibre and weight, had arrived in Communist East Germany.

The Berlin-dated report said the information was received from "Soviet zone government circles."

The newspaper said the Russian cannon weighed 110 tons, had a range of 45 kilometers (27.9 miles), and a greater calibre than the 280-millimeter American cannon, which weighs 85 tons and has a range of 20 miles.

First of a Number

The report said the Soviet cannon was the first of a number to be sent to East Germany and had been provisionally stationed at a secret site in the Mecklenburg region, bordering the British zone of Germany.

The U.S. Army has now five battalions in West Germany with a total of 30 atomic cannon, which are all stationed west of the Rhine River.

The Frankfort newspaper said the Soviet atomic cannon had undergone their first tests in 1952.

U.S. Army comment on the newspaper report was not immediately available.

Earlier this year, a West German veterans newspaper reported that the Soviets had A-cannon stationed in Czechoslovakia. The U.S. Army intelligence said at that time that it had no information.

Philadelphia Doctor Is Honored By AMA

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The American Medical Association Monday voted its distinguished service award for the year to Dr. William Wayne Babcock of Philadelphia, a surgeon and pathologist of Temple University.

The award, voted by the AMA house of delegates, is for outstanding contributions to medicine and humanity. It consists of a gold medal and a citation.

Dr. Babcock is 82 years old and a member of many medical organizations. He is noted for his work in pathology and bacteriology and in oral surgery.

The Philadelphia surgeon was one of three candidates selected for the honor by the AMA board of trustees. The final choice was made by vote of the delegates. The other two were Dr. Howard T. Karsner of Washington D. C. and Dr. Torald H. Sollman of Cleveland Heights, O.

Council To Hear Sewer Proposal

An ordinance will be introduced to the City Council next Monday calling for the creation of a sanitary sewer district from 60th and Aylesworth north to 61st and Leighton.

A similar ordinance was killed by the Council in a previous action but proponents of the district asked for a reconsideration. Those proponents, represented by Attorney Robert Guenzel, stated that three new homes are already under construction in the area while a total of 43 new homes are scheduled for construction.

A group of property owners in the area, represented by Attorney Archer M. Bunting, stated the area was largely agricultural and that it was not yet ready for construction of improvements.

Elgin, Union Confer Today On Contract

CHICAGO (AP)—Representatives of the American Watch Workers Union and officials of the Elgin National Watch Co., will hold a mediation meeting in Chicago Tuesday in efforts to work out a new wake contract.

Thirty-three hundred members of the independent union at Elgin's plants at Elgin, Ill., and Lincoln, Neb., have been working without a contract.

The old contract expired at midnight Sunday night, but union officials decided to permit the employees to work, although they said they were authorized to call a strike "if necessary."

William Hamerster, president of the Union's Elgin Local, said negotiations for a new pact had been broken off Thursday night in a dispute over when the wage clause should be reopened.

Hamerster said the meeting between Elgin officials and AWWU officers was requested by the federal conciliation service "in the interests of industrial peace."

Hamerster added: "The union will honor the request. Meanwhile, our members in Elgin and in Lincoln will continue work without a written contract, sticking to provisions of the old contract."

William Brandes, vice president of the Elgin National Watch Co., advised conciliator William Murray that the company will have representatives at Tuesday's meeting.

A $1,046,400 storm sewer and flood control program has been approved by the City Council with 12 projects scheduled to be under contract by Oct. 4, 1954.

"This is a tentative program," Mayor Clark Jeary stated, "in that it could be changed. However, the city engineering department will proceed along these lines unless advised otherwise by the Council."

Plans and specifications on all of the first 12 flood control and storm sewer projects are scheduled to be completed by Oct. 1 at the latest with the first ones finished Aug. 1. That list includes the completion of projects on which some work has already been done and other top priority jobs.

Total cost of the first 12 jobs is estimated at $368,400. The projects, date of completion of their plans and specifications and preliminary estimates are:

ing $16,000 and over Antelope at 16th costing $54,000.

The seven storm sewer projects and five bridges included in the second project are scheduled for letting after Oct. 4, 1954. The sewer projects, date of completion of final plans and specifications and preliminary estimates are:

Additional personnel in the engineering department will be added as the storm sewer and flood control work is done. The first list of projects could be completed if they had to be with existing personnel, according to Deputy City Engineer Carl Fisher, but the second list could not.

Ira Beynon Reports To Chamber On Defense Installation De-Centralization

By BOB BERKSHIRE
Star Staff Writer

Ira D. Beynon, Lincoln attorney who has returned here after nearly a year in Washington as an assistant to Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson, gave an informal report of his experiences as an official in the executive department at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday noon.

As director of the properties and installations division of the Department of Defense, Beynon was especially concerned with the diversification of government installations. Immediately before returning to Lincoln, Beynon was working on a plan to decentralize defense installations by moving them from the heavily populated Eastern and Southern California areas to the Mid-West and Rocky Mountain states.

"Attempts to transfer installations from one area to another are received with a great deal of opposition by Congressmen and engineers-designer and one draftsman, together with some assistance from outside sources. The Council gave informal tentative approval to the personnel suggestion.

By virtue of the action of voters at last Tuesday's special election, the city has a $9.5 million bond issue for the completion of all storm sewer and most flood relief work. The present schedule would mean about one-third of all work under construction in less than one year.

4 One-Way Street System Plan Offered By Consultant

A system of four one-way streets has been recommended to the City Council by George Barton, consulting traffic engineer from Chicago, Ill.

Barton's system calls for one-way south on 16th and north on 17th, both from Euclid to Holdrege, and one-way east on K and west on L, both from 9th to their intersection with the proposed new southeast diagonal just east of 17th.

The southeast diagonal, Barton said, terminates at its west end at K and L. Consequently, he said, it has been recommended that K and L would serve best as terminals if they operate as a one-way pair.

Barton stated that in the future it might be necessary to extend the 16th and 17th system southward as far as Van Dorn.

"It is urged, however," he said, "that even the initial one-way system not be installed until all the facilities are provided that are necessary for efficient operation. These facilities include traffic signals, street construction and parking control."

Street construction referred to was the cutting back of the off-sets or jogs in 16th at A and Garfield. If the work was done by the city, Barton said, the entire system could be installed for about $21,000, including all necessary equipment.

A new parking system for 16th and 17th, providing more curb parking spaces at times, has been recommended along with the one-way system. Parking restrictions would be as follows:

17th, both sides, Holdrege to Vine, no parking any time.
17th, east side, Vine to R, no parking any time.
17th, west curb, R to O, no parking during peak traffic flow hours and no parking any time east side.
17th, west curb, O to O, no parking during peak traffic flow hours and no parking any time east side.
17th, east side, D to Washington, no parking during a.m. peak traffic flow hours.
17th, both sides, Euclid to South, no parking any time.
Euclid, both sides, 16th to 17th, no parking any time.
16th, east side, Holdrege to Vine, no parking any time.
16th, east side, F to A, no parking any time and no parking during p.m. peak traffic flow hour west side.
16th, both sides, A to Euclid, no parking any time.

Farrington's Death

There was one especially tragic note in Washington's heated atmosphere Saturday when it became known that Hawaiian Territorial Delegate Joseph R. Farrington had died suddenly and unexpectedly of a heart attack. So long as we can remember, Joe Farrington had been the effective, aggressive spokesman for Hawaiian statehood. So many times his hopes and the wishes of the people of Hawaii had seemed to be so near to realization, only to have something develop that meant continuing frustration.

Both in the case of Alaska and Hawaii, time is running out if either is to achieve statehood in these sessions of the 83rd Congress. The political platforms of the two major parties in 1952 made a firm, unequivocal commitment to Alaska and to Hawaii. That has been going on for years. And yet when it comes to transmitting those platform pledges into action, nothing happens except a great deal of double talk and ultimate defeat. Both Democrats and Republicans will have to take the full measure of criticism for this continuing opposition to Alaskan and Hawaiian statehood. In the Democratic party it is the southern conservative to be found in opposition. Again, in the Republican party generally it is the conservative who blocks both territories.

The last territory on the American mainland to be admitted to statehood obtained recognition in 1912, 40 years ago. Our territorial experience, which may have more significance in strengthening the democratic processes than is generally realized, is virtually at an end. But it will not end until Alaska and Hawaii come in. Farrington, Hawaii's ablest, stoutest fighter, did not live to see his hopes achieved.

Up To Mr. Jenkins

When Ray H. Jenkins, the Tennessee lawyer chosen as counsel to serve the Senate subcommittee conducting hearings in the McCarthy-Army brawl, hearings now completed, was appointed, scuttlebutt had it that Mr. Jenkins would be dusted off, shined up and presented as a Republican candidate for the United States Senate, seeking to unseat Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Mr. Jenkins is undecided but apparently has just about made up his mind to say "no" to friends who were hoping that he would become a candidate. Whether he runs for the Senate or decides that civilian life has greater attraction for him is entirely up to Mr. Jenkins.

One very illuminating development on Sunday, however, may be of interest to all the country.

"If I became a candidate for the Senate and Sen. McCarthy magnanimously tendered his service and came down to make a speech for me—at this moment I would accept his offer."

A great many people may wonder about that, while scratching their heads. Mr. Jenkins, we assume, will have a part and a very important part in drawing up the findings of the Senate subcommittee—if any—and participating in the discussions of recommendations (also, if any) which the subcommittee may make. There would be nothing illegal, perhaps in the real sense nothing wrong, with McCarthy's speaking for Jenkins' candidacy if that is what McCarthy and Jenkins agree upon. But such a development certainly would add no luster to the long drawn out proceeding which took up so much time and energy and cost quite a chunk of money. A McCarthy speech in behalf of a senatorial candidacy by Counsel Jenkins might seem to fit in with all of the proprieties in the eyes of the two men most directly affected, but to disinterested observers at a distance, it does not seem to measure up to the delicacies involved. And no doubt Sen. Kefauver, fighting for reelection, would make those Tennessee hills ring before he got through with them. Kefauver is not exactly a novice nor an amateur when it comes to taking care of himself in a political fight.

Against Remembering

Humankind has been trying to write a good history since the first man learned how to make intelligible marks and no one has yet succeeded. There are some natural handicaps. One is that in human conflict the winning survivor does the writing and his first concern is to justify what he has done. A winning nation has to prove that its victim was base and unfit and sometimes has to doctor the records to make it come out. Another handicap is that society's on-the-spot judgment is faulty. It gives emphasis to events that later turn out not to be influential and seldom keeps very good records of the emergent forces which do have effect.

A young Texan, Bruce Meador, has not set out to revolutionize history writing but he has made a small suggestion that would improve what we have done and help the future readers considerably. He is campaigning against those hateful incidents that are preserved with the idea of keeping nation's mad at each other. He thinks it is time for Americans to forget remembering the Alamo and for present-day Mexicans to stop remembering Chapultepec. He would just as soon forget Pearl Harbor, too, and the War Between the States. He thinks the fact that such things occur should not be used to feed their recurrence but should only be reminders that none of them would have happened if nations had learned to regard each other with graciousness and understanding.

The Soft Answer

Rep. Lawrence Smith, Wisconsin, has taken the time to look up the figures on the cost of this generation's three wars. He told Congress that World War I cost the U. S. A. $66,392,966,000. World War II $449,678,266,000, while the Korean war cost $150,878,533,000.

Wars are growing more expensive. There were 565 fighting days in World War I each costing $37,350,000. The daily cost jumped in WWII to $221,048,000, then subsided to $91,048,000 for Korea.

It is interesting to note that the three commitments set the current generation back $667,149,765,000.

When it is considered that the U. S. national debt is only $175 billion war looks like the world's most expensive diversion and for what it brings in rewards one can consider that an evening spent loosely at a carnival is pretty conservative business.

Perhaps between the H-bomb and the auditors the world can be convinced that the soft answer not only turneth away anger but deficits as well. That would be quite a day.

Schine Not First To Get Military Favors

WASHINGTON — Regardless of how you may feel about the junior senator from Wisconsin, one good thing which ought to come out of the Army-McCarthy hearings is less political pull in the armed services.

Despite the dust thrown in the eyes of the public by McCarthy witnesses, there is no question but that Private Schine was coddled, pampered, babied and cottonwooled by the Army, as no other private would have been had he not been the son of a wealthy hotel-theater magnate, and had he not had the backing of a powerful U.S. senator with broad subpoena powers. The manner in which the top brass treated him was un-American and disgraceful.

But if the McCarthy hearings have served to put a stop to Army politics they will have achieved a lot.

During more than a decade, this column has done its best to spotlight and expose armed services favoritism, whether in high places or low. Today, with every youngster in the U.S.A. subject to draft, all ought to be drafted on equal terms, and all ought to get the same treatment and same opportunities.

While armed-services pull has been exaggerated, it does exist; and here are some instances which should be banished completely in the future:

ARMY PULL

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore got his son commissioned in the judge advocate general's office where he was not likely to see Korean combat. The mayor approached Sen. John Butler of Maryland, who approached the same Gen. Miles Reber who figured in McCarthy's request for a commission for Schine. As a result, young D'Alesandro was s yanked out of basic training at Indiantown Gap, Pa., and given a direct commission.

Congressman Velde's son — In February, 1953, I reported that Congressman Velde, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, was pulling wires to get his son transferred to Bolling field after he graduated from the Air Force ROTC. Velde promptly called me a liar. However, Richard Velde later turned up at Bolling field, a choice berth just 10 minutes from his father's office in Washington.

Senator O'Daniel's son — When "pass-the-biscuits Pappy" O'Daniel of Texas was in the Senate, his son Lee flunked out at officers' candidate school. Most privates who fail are immediately sent out into the ranks. But, thanks to an influential father, Young O'Daniel got three different shots at officers' school. Finally, after flunking twice, he made it the third time, and was transferred to Fort Washington, D.C., right under his father's nose.

Parnell Thomas—One of the money-raising devices used by Congressman Parnell Thomas of New Jersey, who went to jail for taking salary kickbacks, was trying to transfer soldiers to lush posts and then collecting from their families. When Private E. A. Kimmel of Long Beach, N. Y., was about to be shipped overseas during the war, Thomas tried to get the Army to make him an undercover agent for the House Committee of un-American Activities and get him stationed in New York. The Army, skeptical, refused. But it never did send Kimmel to a combat area, and later Congressman Thomas tried to collect from Kimmel's father by selling him an insurance policy.

Thomas also tried to keep Private George Tiplitz of New York City out of combat areas, and incidentally collected a total of $500 for his political campaigns.

MORE STARS FOR TOP BRASS

However, military politics is by no means confined to congressmen. Some of the worst politics has been pulled by the highest-ranking officers in the armed services.

When Douglas MacArthur was a brigadier general in the Philippines during the Harding administration he got his father-in-law, Edward T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia, a partner in the J. P. Morgan firm, to go to the War Department and tell Secretary of War John Weeks, father of Sinclair Weeks, the present secretary of commerce, that he wanted MacArthur promoted.

Stotesbury had been a heavy contributor to the Republican party. MacArthur got his promotion.

MacArthur was an aide to Secretary of War Newton Baker during part of the war and was advanced from the rank of major to brigadier general in one jump. After the war, he was the only brigadier general to keep his temporary wartime rank, but he had to do so much wire-pulling to keep it that Congress actually passed a law providing that future brigadier generals must be promoted only from the grade of colonel. The law was specifically aimed at preventing anyone else from duplicating what MacArthur did.

NAVY POLITICS

Politics can be just as important in the Navy. Last summer this column exposed the fact that Capt. George Hyman Rickover, developer of the atomic submarine, had been passed over by a selection board of admirals and was not to be promoted, partly because of his religion. Later Secretary of the Navy Robert Anderson stepped in, overruled the admirals, and promoted Rickover.

Last year, also, the Navy made a scapegoat of young Lieut. Comdr. Jerry Richardson in connection with a striptease dance at Key West, Fla. He was confined to quarters and held virtually incommunicado for 40 days, pending trial. Meanwhile the chaplain who protested the strip tease was transferred, but Adm. Irvin T. Duke and Capt. A. E. Buckley, the top commanders in charge, went unscathed.

Following publication of this favoritism in the Washington Merry-Go-Round, Secretary Anderson rectified the injustices and announced that the top commanders were subject to reprimand.

This is the type of wire-pulling and back-scratching that sometimes takes place in the armed services—but which, if we are to have a strong Army, Navy and Air Force, should not take place at all. Imagine the effect on millions of mothers with boys in armed services when they read how Private Schine escaped KP duty, got a constant flow of week-end passes, and was not even punished when he failed to turn up for guard duty. Ike's Lift To Private Power Attracts Fire

WASHINGTON—A showdown is near on President Eisenhower's circuitous efforts to promote private power as against TVA by means of the Atomic Energy Commission's statutory authority to make 25-year contracts.

When the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy convenes this week, possibly Tuesday, Rep. Chet Holifield will move that the committee instruct AEC to hold up the Dixon-Yates contract. The President has ordered AEC to sign it and TVA to co-operate.

If the motion fails, the fight will be carried to the floor of the House by Reps. Holifield and Melvin Price and to the Senate by Senator Gore.

Dixon-Yates is the name of the private power syndicate which wants to build a new $107 million plant in the rich Memphis, Tenn., area and has persuaded the President to let them use the government's credit to do it. AEC itself does not now need more power as it has a firm and lucrative TVA contract, but its contracting rights are vital to the new scheme.

This is because the Dixon-Yates syndicate expects to put up in equity capital only about 5 per cent of the total cost. Committee testimony showed that the ordinary method of private utility financing calls for 40 per cent equity capital and 60 per cent bonds. But with a long-term AEC contract under its belt, the Dixon-Yates group could manage the 5 per cent equity and 95 per cent bonds.

The AEC staff estimates that the contract would cost about $3.6 million a year more than a similar arrangement with TVA or, over the life of the contract, about $90 million. Rep. Holifield calls this "a free ride for the utilities" at the end of which "the private utilities will own the automobile paid for by the taxpayers."

There are other gimmicks in the contract, according to Holifield.

"If within three years AEC should cancel the contract, it would be liable to a $40 million penalty," he charged. "Thereafter for the next six years the syndicate would have the right to take over 100,000 kilowatts annually for its own use. So at the end of nine years, it will have recaptured all its capacity and can sell to private users at a higher price than to the government."

Should the over-all construction costs exceed the original $107 million, the government is also obligated to put up one-half of the extra cost up to 9 per cent of the total. This represents a contingent liability of $4.5 million.

THE DIXON-YATES STORY

The Dixon-Yates story really begins with the President's budget message, where he first made it clear that he did not intend to give TVA funds for additional facilities. Instead, he said, arrangements were being made to reduce existing commitments of TVA to AEC.

AEC witnesses, however, testified they have no plans to cancel their TVA contracts which are so satisfactory to them. It was, in fact, clearly indicated that the commissioners had explored the President's idea and rejected it. Three commissioners bluntly oppose it now as "incongruous" and outside AEC's "sober and exacting principal mission." Chairman Strauss and Commissioner Campbell, both Eisenhower appointees, testified rather glumly they were ready to go along.

Rep. Holifield believes that the attraction of the proposal for the President is that it relieves him from putting into his budget funds to expand TVA. The administration is getting further and further away from a balanced budget as it reduces taxes and nears the peril point in defense cuts, if indeed it has not already passed it.

Garden Glances With The Moon

To hear an oracle sing
May be a common thing,
Or only a device,
It is not of the bird
Who sings the same, unward,
As unto crowd.

The fashion of the ear

No whether it be ruse
Or whether it be naive,
Is of nothing;
The "tune" is in the tree."
The sceptic showeth me;

Today the waning moon is in the flexed, watery and fruitful sign, Pisces. Tomorrow morning near eleven o'clock it will enter the movable, fiery and very barren sign, Aries, and in the afternoon at 1:42 fourth lunar quarter will begin. Friday afternoon at 1:07 June's old, old moon will enter the fixed, earthy and dry sign, Taurus, which is fairly fruitful.

Mrs. Swingle, full, Sunday afternoon at 2:42 it will enter the flexed, airy and barren sign, Gemini, and late next Tuesday afternoon it will enter the movable, watery and exceedingly fruitful sign, cancer.

The last birds to return each year from winter quarters to our place out here on Locust Lane, which we affectionately call "The Bird's Nest," are the orioles. As is their habit they return always to the same basket-like nest that swings in the tallest tree, but I anxiously wondered what would happen this year. Our Boileau poplar like others of the poplar family in Lincoln and vicinity is not too long-lived and had not leaved on the very branches that

Against All Odds

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Never before in history was a case presented to a jury that literally numbered in the millions as the McCarthy-Army hearings, thanks to television. TV viewers became familiar with the lawyers' trick used so often against the McCarthy forces of attacking personalities when evidence was nil. They saw him stand up against all odds, battling to bring out the truth about evil Communist influence in high circles.

TV viewers were there to see the enduring patience it takes to ferret out facts. Millions of citizens who had accepted the biased press evaluation of McCarthy saw with their own eyes how they had been misled. Sen. McCarthy never let the jury of millions forget that the only concern was whether Communists should be "untouchable sacred cows."

Those who have been working hard to awaken the people against the deadly peril of evil Communism rightly feel that Sen. McCarthy and his small courageous staff have served above and beyond the call of duty.

The free-swinging battles of grass roots origin scare only those who have something to hide.

THE DANDELION

Poor, little, common yellow flower,
Missed by the morning dew,
Living and blooming with all your power,
Does nobody care for you?

Gardeners think you not worth their sowing,
Bright little head of gold,
There are so many of you here growing,
Never your worth is told.

Were you a delicate flower and tender,
Were you a blossom rare,
People would stop to admire your splendor,
Many for you would care.

Still from your courage new faith I've taken,
Blossom of golden hue,
Each to our tasks assigned must awaken—
I am a commoner, too.

Delphiniums in the garden of Mrs. E. M. Forsyth, 2860 Manse held their nest. For five years they had been coming back to this same tree and nest. Maybe they redecorated and repaired it each year. That we do not know, for the leaves concealed it so well, but this year it was bare to the sky and wind and weather.

A mere three weeks ago there was a new song on the morning air, and I suddenly realized our orioles had arrived. Almost immediately a pair and a single female, doubtless a fledgling of last year, flew to our Boileau and inspected the nest. Through most of the day they were about and I have not seen them since. If a new nest has been woven in another branch, I have not observed it, and I can be assured of this only next autumn when the leaves fall. "Hope springs eternal in the human breast!"

Our picture today shows just one corner of Mrs. E. M. Forsyth's garden at 2860 Manse, and gives a glimpse of her perfectly superb Pacific hybrid delphiniums. They range in color from purest white through all hues of blue to deep violet. The individual florets are over two inches across, and many of the stalks are over six feet tall. Oh, to grow delphiniums like these! Delphiniums in our prairie climate should be treated not as perennials but as biennials, and this Mrs. Forsyth does. Each year she grows vigorous new plants for the next year's magnificent bloom, and then after spending

Not To Run For Senate

Remains On High Court

Chief Justice Robert G. Simmons of the Nebraska Supreme Court announced Monday he has decided not to quit the high court bench in order to run for the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate, full term.

"I am deeply grateful for the confidence and patience of those who have suggested that I file for the senate," Judge Simmons said.

"The decision has not been an easy one to make."

"I remain on the court."

Judge Simmons announced his decision a few hours before the 5 p.m. deadline he would have to have met were he to file. Although the normal filing deadline is July 1, a state office holder who decides to run for a different office must file at least 10 days in advance of the regular deadline, so others will have a chance to file for the office he would vacate.

There had been speculation for some time that Judge Simmons, who has two and a half years remaining of his six-year supreme court term, might decide to seek the senatorial nomination.

A native of Scotts Bluff County, Judge Simmons served in Congress as a U.S. representative from 1923 to 1933 and was a Republican senatorial nominee in 1934 and 1936.

JUNE IS on the wane that's true—but judging from the calendar we have at hand there's not to be too much change in the activity when July comes firecracking in—Well, maybe a slight change—there aren't quite so many July brides as were scheduled for June, but neither can we say that the month has been slighted as far as the Lohengrin music and processional aisles are concerned.

And speaking of processional aisles and such—Understand that Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Loder and their daughter, Miss Jo Jen Loder, left Monday evening for Wilmette, Ill., where they will attend the wedding of their niece and cousin, Miss Patricia Loder and Randall Ayer on Wednesday. Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Loder and their daughter will go to Clarendon Hills, Ill., where they will be the guests of Mrs. Loder's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Decker.

Also going to Wilmette for the Loder-Ayer wedding are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lmscott, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hester and Mrs. R. M. Beal.

NOW IS about the time we begin talking of July brides—and one of those is Miss

Brides At Attractive Late June Weddings

MRS. KENNETH CLEMENT

MRS. DEAN L. MCGINNIS

With white peonies and lighted cathedral candles forming the chancel appointments, the marriage of Miss Charlene Blessing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Blessing of Ord, to Kenneth W. Clement, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Clement, also of Ord, was solemnized at a 4 o'clock ceremony on Sunday afternoon, June 20, at the First Presbyterian church in Ord. The Rev. Warren Porter, minister of First Presbyterian, read the service, and Miss Mary Thompson, organist, played the wedding music. Miss Thompson also accompanied Miss Sue Kirkman who sang preceding the ceremony.

Mrs. Paul Chase of Port Angeles, Wash., her sister's matron of honor; Miss Janet Robertson of Imperial, the maid of honor; and the two bridesmaids, Miss Kathleen Clement, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Janis Pocock, wore alike frocks of taffeta and tulle in the pastel rose shade. The strapless bodices were of the taffeta which also formed deep V-shaped front and back panels in the long, tulle skirts. Matching taffeta stoles were worn as shoulder cover-ups, and each carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Donald Clement served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Dale Olson, York; William Johnson of Fremont, and Gerald Severson. The bride chose a wedding gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle. The snug lace bodice, fashioned with a portrait neckline, and brief sleeves—their length replaced with long lace mitts—narrowed to a slender waist beneath which the exceedingly wide skirt, formed of tiers of tulle, was given added bouffancy with front and back panels of lace, and was completed with a chapel train. A shirred tulle bonnet held in place her waist-length veil of illusion, and she carried a white Bible marked with white orchids.

Following a reception, held in the church parlors, Mr. Clement and his bride left for a honeymoon trip after which they will be at home at 4730 Bryson, Lincoln.

Mrs. Clement is a former student at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. Mr. Clement, a graduate of the University of Nebraska, is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, and Nebraska Masquers.

Attending Conference

MRS. L. L. HILLIARD

The president of the Nebraska Division of the American Association of University Women, Mrs. L. L. Hilliard of Scottsbluff, is in Washington,

Miss Marion McClelland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. McClelland of Norfolk, became the bride of Dean L. McGinnis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle McGinnis, also of Norfolk, at an early evening ceremony solemnized Sunday, June 20. The lines of the service were read by the Rev. Adrian J. Edgar at the Norfolk Methodist Church.

Lighting the white cathedral candles, which with arrangements of white garden flowers formed the chancel decor, were Miss Marjorie Young and Miss Carol Tietjen, and the wedding music was played by Paul W. LeBar of Lincoln, organist. Mr. LeBar also accompanied Miss Sue McClelland, the bride's sister, as she sang "O Perfect Love", and Miss Dorothy Ann Kunkel of Weeping Water, violinist, who played "Calm As The Night".

Miss Sue McClelland also attended her sister as maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Maxine McGinnis, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss JoAnn Saathoff of Sterling, who wore identical frocks of pale blue silk shantung fashioned with fitted basques and widely-flaring skirts. They carried nosegays of white daisies.

Serving Mr. McGinnis as best man was Paul Woerner of Ames, Ia., and seating the guests were Don Volk and Everett Isaacson of Norfolk, Wally Reed, Lincoln, and Darrell Hart of Kearney.

Antique ivory silk and tulle was chosen by the bride for her wedding gown. The strapless bodice of silk was deeply cuffed by a band embroidered in the scroll pattern and dotted with rhinestones, which also formed the collar trim of her long-sleeved silk jacket. The scroll motif was repeated on the yoke of the full tulle skirt, and her circular illusion veil was held by a cap of tulle edged with a satin. She carried a white Bible ornamented with a single white orchid and showered with stephanotis.

A reception for 250 guests was held in the parlors of the church at which the couple left for Whittier, Calif., to reside. Employed as a research chemist, Mr. McGinnis is a graduate of Norfolk Junior College and Wayne State Teachers College. The bride is a former student at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

Tribeg lies in a narrow mountain defile in the Black Forest in Germany. It has one well-scrubbed, cobbled main street. Full of cuckoo clocks.

The Black Forest makes thousands of carved wooden cuckoo clocks. Little clockwork men come out of the clocks. They whistle "How Dry I Am." Or little peasant girls bounce on swings at the end of the pendulum.

Cuckoos whistle the hour and wooden men march in and out.

I reset my Swiss Rolex to German time.

The Park Hotel stood at the head of the street. It had a wrought-iron sign with a golden bull and eagle. On one side, a thick bed of all color pansies measured right to the edge of the street. On the other, pansies were set out in big red pots.

The manager showed me two rooms overlooking a garden full of pine trees and red tulips and blooming lilac. He asked me if 50 marks a day for three was too much? Breakfast and dinner included.

This was about $11.75. After French prices I nearly fell on his neck and wept.

I looked in my handy phrase book. "500 Everyday Expressions." But could only find "Ja, ich bin leidenschaftlicher Zigarettenraucher." "Yes, I am a passionate smoker of cigarettes." And "Bars under Restaurants sind keine Seltenheit mehr in den Verkehrsflugzeugen." "Quite frequently you will even find a bar and restaurant in modern passenger planes."

For my "Everyday Expression" it was obviously the wrong day.

The young lady of 10 who has been sharing my French Simca, went right out on the street. Within half an hour she had presented me with a bouquet of wild flowers.

"Where did you pick them?" "I never pick flowers." She said this pretty righteously because she does pick flowers. In spite of threats of the rack, thumbscrew and no comic books for a week.

"The girl picked them," she said.

"What girl?" "The girl I play jump rope with," she said. "She speaks German and I speak English. So we speak French together." This child hasn't been able to learn to say "please" in French. But she likes to think she is a linguist.

I am somewhat amazed the way children fall into foreign countries and land on their feet.

Without French, this child organized a spirited game of jacks in France. Including "pinkying." (You must pinky before you start or you have to start over again.)

Second Inmate Charged With Murder Of Penitentiary Guard

McClelland, 25, Pleads Not Guilty

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Charles Edward McClelland, 25-year-old Nebraska Penitentiary inmate, pleaded not guilty Monday to a first-degree murder charge in connection with the April 16 slaying of Prison Guard John Claussen.

McClelland was bound over to Lancaster District Court by County Judge Herbert Ronin after McClelland waived a preliminary hearing in the lower court.

Several hours earlier, Co. Atty. Frederick Wagener announced the filing of charges and said investigation had revealed McClelland to be an "active participant" in the Claussen slaying.

Wagener said that "a written confession obtained from McClelland has been corroborated by factual evidence."

'Short Time Ago'

The confession was secured by Dep. Co. Atty. Elmer Scheele "a short time ago," Wagener said, but explained "no announcement was made until now because several factual and evidentiary details had not been completed until Sunday night."

McClelland is the first inmate to be arraigned and the second to be charged with first-degree

Inmate Arraigned For Murder

Nebraska Penitentiary inmate Charles McClelland enters the County Courthouse for arraignment on the charge murder in the death of the 70-year-old print shop supervisor, who was slugged and slashed fatally as he sat alone in the shop, eating his lunch.

He was apparently surprised from behind, hit over the head, then dragged behind some type filing cases where his throat was cut with his own knife.

Charged on May 17 was Joseph E. DeYonghe Jr., 21, whose prosecution awaits the outcome of hearing before the Lancaster a two-to-three-year term at the Colorado State Penitentiary on a worthless check charge, signed a statement there admitting the Omaha slayings.

No accomplice was found, but officials considered the possibility that someone else was involved in the May murders.

McClelland, a carnival employee, several times subsequent has told varying stories about the slayings.

In the Claussen slaying, Wagener said "there's no question but that McClelland was an active participant," but declined to elaborate as to either McClelland or DeYonghe's alleged parts.

Wagener said he was "satisfied as to the motive," but declined comment as to details. "The case has the legal elements of purpose, deliberation, and premeditated malice."

McClelland did not work in the prison print shop as did DeYonghe and 18 other inmates, Wagener said. McClelland worked "in the check room for the laundry." The laundry and print shop were located in one building, but the check room is in another building nearby, he said.

No Comment

In answer to a question, Wagener said the investigation "has not been entirely closed." As to whether or not there are other inmate-suspects, Wagener refused comment either way.

Investigation subsequent to the DeYonghe announcement on May 15 continued "because we felt strongly about the possibility of another inmate being involved," Wagener said.

Wagener said the investigators who continued with the case were Capt. Harold Smith and Sgt. Robert Nichols of the Nebraska Safety Patrol; Chief Dep. Co. Atty. Elmer Scheele, Dep. Co. Atty. Dale Fahrbruch and himself.

Wagener said physical evidence, such as inmate clothing and other articles, examined by FBI laboratory in Washington, D. C., was "part of the corroborative evidence in the case."

While McClelland waived his right to counsel in County Court, Wagener said McClelland would request the District Court to appoint an attorney for him.

Wagener said McClelland would probably be arraigned in District Court "sometime Wednesday" and counsel would be requested then.

Blonde, 18, Testifies Ward Heir Once Nabbed As Dope Addict

CHICAGO (AP) — Blonde, 18-year-old Maureen Ragen Monday testified that her fiancé, Montgomery Ward Thorne, heir to a mail order fortune, once told her he had been arrested as a dope addict.

Thorne, 20, was found dead in his Gold Coast apartment Saturday.

Miss Ragen, weeping occasionally as she testified, said Thorne told her his mother once called him "a drunk and a dope addict" and had him arrested.

She said Thorne had complained about his relations with his family and contended his "mother didn't love him."

Coroner Walter E. McCarron ordered Thorne's mother, Mrs. Marion Thorne, subpoenaed. Mrs. Thorne did not appear at Monday's inquest into her son's death. The inquest was continued until June 28.

Miss Ragen testified she did not know Thorne had made her chief beneficiary and executor of his estate. This was made known earlier by Thorne's attorney, Jay Stough. Thorne's mother had been left the estate under a previous will, Stough said.

'I Was Afraid'

Miss Ragen expressed fears for her own life because she was made beneficiary.

"When I learned that I was beneficiary of the will I told Mr. Stough I didn't want anything to do with it," she said, "I was afraid they would get me."

Miss Ragen did not say who she meant by "they."

Miss Ragen and Thorne had planned to marry in December, she said.

Testimony concerning Thorne's activities prior to his death came from an attorney representing his mother, Henry J. Kalchauer. The lawyer said he had received a telephone call from a young woman who said the heir had paid her a pre-dawn visit a few hours before his death.

The woman telephoned the apartment of Thorne's mother to offer condolences, he said.

"The caller identified herself as Suzanne Rooks, a friend of Monty," Kalchauer said. "She said that at 4 a.m. Saturday morning, Monty had come to her apartment which is across the street from his."

Swimming Date

Police sought Miss Rooks to obtain her story.

Thorne's body, clad in shorts, was found in bed Saturday morning after Miss Ragen had gone to his apartment to rouse him for a swimming date.

Spectators who packed a funeral parlor heard Detective Raymond J. Curran testify that a search of the apartment which Thorne had occupied only since June 11, turned up a homemade hypodermic syringe, a sleeping pill, a spoon which had been blackened by flame, and a length of thin rubber tubing.

The syringe, made from an eyedropper barrel and a hollow needle taped together, was found atop a closet door frame in the apartment, Curran testified.

Miss Ragen, blonde granddaughter of James M. Ragen, race wire operator who was shot by gangsters in 1946, said Thorne told her that the arrest took place 18 months ago.

'Causing Trouble'

Police Capt. William Burke said, however, that Thorne was brought to the Hudson Avenue Police Station by his mother, Mrs. Marion Thorne, and the two talked with the late Capt. John T. Warren.

Thorne's complaint that her son "was running away" and "causing trouble" was ironed out at an informal conference.

Coroner Walter T. McCarron, who said a post mortem examination showed nine needle marks in young Thorne's arms, asked Miss Ragen, "Did you know that he used narcotics?"

"No," she replied, sobbing. "Wouldn't I know if he had?"

Asked whether young Thorne had threatened to take his life, she cried, "no, no, no!"

Miss Ragen testified that she did not know until after Thorne's death that he had changed his will, naming her executor and heir to one-half of his million dollar fortune.

Police quoted young Thorne's attorney as saying the change was made 10 days ago, cutting Mrs. Thorne out of the will.

Beauty Shops At Home Given OK

The City Council has passed an ordinance on third reading permitting the operation of beauty shops in the home.

Beauticians must operate by themselves and are limited as to the display of signs. This permission was mistakenly omitted from the city's revised zoning ordinance.

Other ordinances passed on third reading:

Paving of all of Lenox in Stuh's Park Ave. addition.

Point of 31st, Fair to Leighton, 32nd, Center to Leighton and Merrill, 31st to 32nd.

Paving of L. 45th to 52nd, 50th, L. to O and 31, 50th to 52nd.

Water district in 51st, Cleveland to Adams.

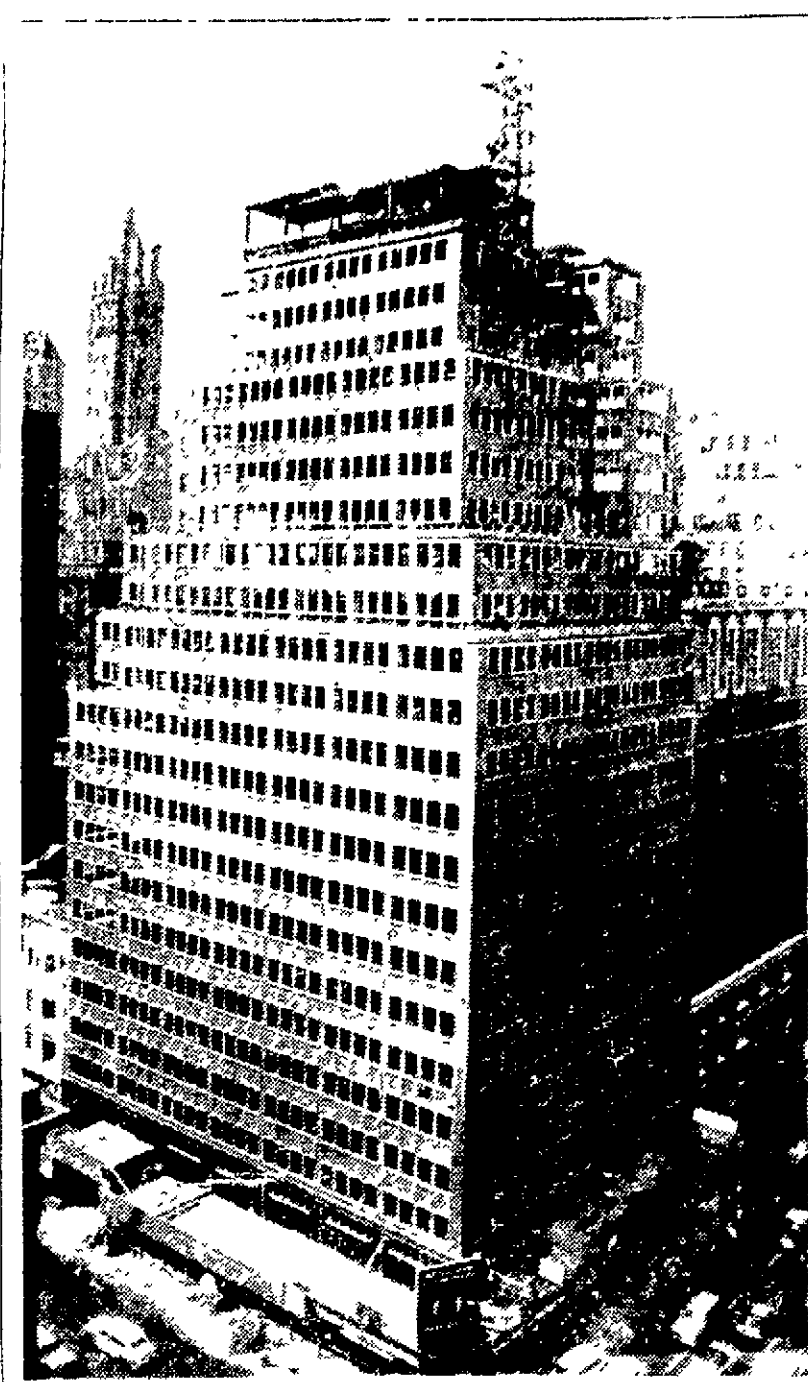

Sewer district in the alley between 68th and 69th and between N. and Orchard.

Widening of N. 30 feet to the north between 50th and 52nd.

Only one ordinance the paving of 29th from D. to E. was introduced for the first reading.

Reds Lift Secrecy Veil On 83 Yanks Held In China

GENEVA (AP)—Red China briefly raised the veil of secrecy surrounding the fate of 83 Americans held on the Chinese mainland to announce Monday the death of a civilian and to list some military personnel as dead or missing.

The Chinese Communists, in an exchange of information with the U. S. delegation to the Geneva conference, reported they were holding 30 American civilians in prison.

One of 32 civilians listed by the United States as detained, W. L. Winter of Cicero, Ill., was arrested in Kwangtung Province, the Communists said. Winter had done mission work in a Kiangsi Province leprosy sanatorium. His home address was not given. Another, the Rev. John B. Maye, a Roman Catholic missionary from Scranton, Pa., was never held and is now living in Changsha, Hunan Province, it was reported.

The information was given at the fourth meeting of U.S. and Chinese representatives here.

List Turned Over

U. Alexis Johnson, U. S. ambassador to Czechoslovakia and acting head of the U. S. delegation since the departure of the Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, advised the Chinese in turn that the United States is now prepared to permit 15 detained Chinese Nationals in the United States to depart. Johnson turned over a list of their names.

At the same time, Johnson told the Communists that half of the Chinese who had been detained "no longer wish" to leave the United States, an American Communist said.

The Chinese Communists listed as dead three U. S. Air Force fliers—P. E. Voorhis, H. D. Weese and A. D. Hart Jr.

They said the fliers were in the B-29 Superfort of Col. John Knox Arnold Jr., which crashed in the area of Antung, China, a MIG base, while on a leaflet-dropping mission near the Yalu River 18 months ago. Radio Peking reported Jan. 26, 1953, that Arnold and 10 crewmen bailed out and were captured, while three others died in the crash.

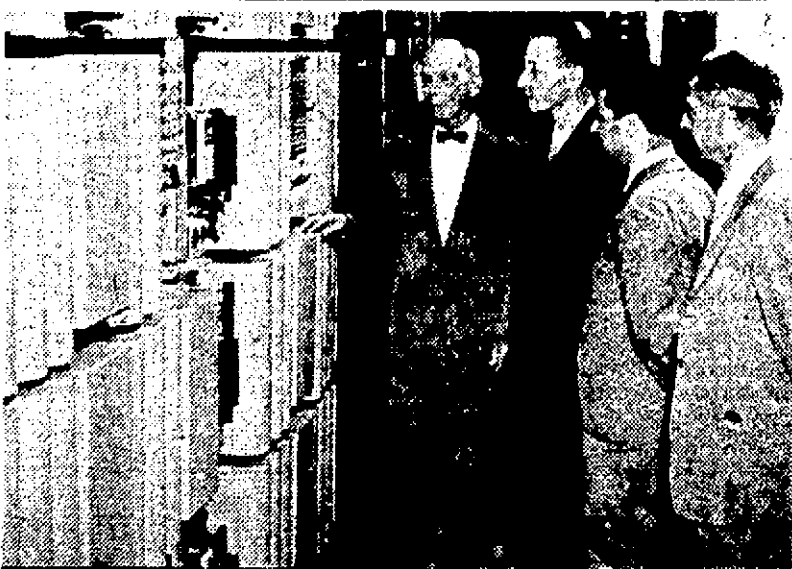

Fifteen Detained

U. S. Air Force records indicated the dead were Lt. Paul E. Van Voorhis of Glen Cove, N. Y.; Lt. Henry D. Weese of Knobel, Ark.; and airman Alvin D. Hart Jr. of Saginaw, Mich.

Fifteen military personnel are being detained, the Communists said. They reported they had no information about the fate of 11 naval fliers who plunged into the sea off the Mianu Islands in a Naval patrol plane and a rescue plane.

The only other definite information supplied by the Communists concerned persons who were believed by the United States to have been refused exit permits from China.

The Communists said Mr. and Mrs. Christian (otherwise unidentified) had obtained exit permits June 18 and sailed from Shanghai. Mrs. M. E. Huizer, they said, was a Dutch citizen, not an American. Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ricks, about whose whereabouts the United States had inquired, have withdrawn an application for exit permits, the Communists said.

Yanks Visit Italy For Fun, Italians Come Here On Job

By B. R. ROTHENBERGER
Star Staff Writer

Americans, it seems, save up their money and like to spend it all on a fascinating trip to Italy.

They yearn to poke around among the ruins of the Eternal City and to dine al fresco sampling the country's wine and its native dishes—the kind served in a hole-in-the-wall restaurant by a chef who is voluble and brandishes at once a large carving knife and two heroic-size matching mustaches.

They like the bouncy trains and the happy inefficiency that frustrates them at every turn.

But the Italians. They are just the opposite. They like to come to America. No Italian food for them. You can have your vino. They revel in the glistening cafeterias where you can get exactly what you want—no more, no less—and see it before you buy it.

Wonderful Places

They don't miss the ruins. They think cities like Lincoln are wonderful places. They like American trains which speed so swiftly and smoothly across the great spaces—wonderful trains, so cool, so polite and so business-like.

They like the hospitality and the accommodating, friendly and well-informed business people.

Such was the impression gathered from three gentlemen from Milan, Italy who spent Monday in Lincoln.

They were Frederico Zaganelli, Vittorio Beltrami and C. Migliasso.

Being technical men from Autelco, Mediterranea, S.A.T.A.P., engaged in manufacturing automatic telephone equipment they were naturally guests of Merle Hale, vice president, C. C. Donley, chief engineer and L. P. Young, general traffic supervisor, of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company.

They came to Lincoln during a 30 day stay in this country to make a detailed inspection of the L.T. & T. company's automatic toll installation which went into service last December in the company's new 15th and M building.

Last Word

Mr. Migliasso, being conversant with English, explained the Lincoln installation was important because it is the last word in handling long distance traffic automatically and until science outdid itself again it would stand as a pattern for the world to copy.

Messrs Zaganelli and Beltrami, not being conversant with English, shared this conviction in intense Italian.

Mr. Donley accepted the international tribute in behalf of the corporation and added by way of modest explanation that Lincoln's new set-up handled not only Lincoln long distance traffic automatically, but took care

500 REBEL PRISONERS BREAK OUT

Uprising Is Staged At French Detention Camp

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—The bulk of 500 Vietnamese war prisoners held in a French union detention camp at My Tho have broken free in an uprising staged with the help of a guerrilla attack on the guards, informed military sources said Monday.

About 100 were reported killed, wounded or recaptured after the action before dawn Saturday. But 400—potential reinforcements for the Communist-led rebel campaign to overrun Indo-China—melted into the tropical bush and marshlands of the area 30 miles southwest of Saigon and vanished.

Some of the prisoners were Vietnamese regulars. Most of them were regional troops and guerrillas.

Guards Overpowered

The military sources said several companies of guerrillas raked the compound at My Tho Saigon, with heavy fire. Simultaneously, the rebels inside overpowered their guards in bitter fighting, cut through the barbed wire enclosing the camp and fled.

French union reinforcements arrived too late for the fighting.

In the Red River Delta 18 miles northwest of Hanoi, French tanks, artillery, planes, gunboats and Viet namese infantry pounded eight villages suspected of harboring infiltrating Vietnamese.

Elsewhere in the delta, small French union patrols clashed with infiltrated Vietnamese at a dozen different points. Some of the clashes were less than 10 miles from Hanoi.

British Movies Gain

LONDON (AP)—The British drift away from the movies, largely attributed to television, has been stemmed, figures released by the Board of Trade indicate. In the last three months of 1953 moviegoers totaled 305,773,000. That's 954,000 more than in the corresponding quarter of 1952.

Too Many Reporters

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Bishop C. Bronley Oxnam, Methodist churchman and one of six presidents of the World Council of Churches, looks for trouble with the press when the Council stages its assembly at Evanston, Ill., in August. "We have requests for working space for 1,200 reporters and seats for only 300," he said.

Arms Readied

NEW ORLEANS (INS)—The first assembly of military equipment slated for the governments of Honduras and Nicaragua arrived at the New Orleans port of embarkation Monday for shipment to the Central American nations.

Port publicity director Capt. Edward J. Huard emphasized, however, that the U.S. shipments were for the governments of Honduras and Nicaragua and not for the rebel forces currently warring against the Guatemalan government.

Dewey Reluctant

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, indicating that he was reluctant to seek a fourth term, announced Monday he was "deferring any statement" on his plans at the request of New York State Republican leaders. Faced with mounting GOP demands that he head the ticket again next November, Dewey said he had decided to put off a definite decision because of the "strong feeling" expressed by Rep. Dean P. Taylor, GOP state chairman, "and others" that "further consideration" should be given to their views.

Less Talk

Questioned about Communism Migliasso and his companions conferred explosively in Italian. Then he emerged to say they have heard a lot about Communists in America but hadn't seen any—a case of no corpus delicti. But in Italy there is less talk and a good many Communists. The contest is more grim over there.

Migliasso said the Commies had made political gains and as yet the outcome is undecided. His solution was a better deal for the rank and file. He said Italy had made steady progress since the war.

Migliasso said Italy knows about and appreciates the great help it has received from the United States and considers America a friend in need.

He offered no foreign view on Sen. McCarthy, explaining that he was a telephone man and not a qualified political commentator. But he observed that Americans already have lots more than Communism could possibly offer and it would be next to impossible to convert them.

Churchill, Eden Talk

LONDON (INS)—British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill talked with Foreign Minister Anthony Eden Monday and then called a meeting to discuss the Geneva conference results and the Churchill-Eden trip to Washington. The cabinet probably will meet again Tuesday, also, and Eden will open a foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons Wednesday before he and Churchill leave by plane for Washington Thursday.

Administration Eases Its Banking Policies

...Cut In Reserve Deposits Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration Monday further eased its banking policies with a step which opens the way for nine billion dollars of additional credit to flow into the national economy.

The Federal Reserve Board announced that over the next six weeks it will make a gradual reduction in the amount of reserves which member banks are required to keep on deposit.

The reduction will release about 1 1/2 billion dollars for use in expanding loans and investments.

Since member banks may use the freed reserves for loans and investments up to about six times the amount released, the theoretical expansion of credit amounts to approximately nine billion dollars.

The reserve board, in announcing the move, said it was acting "in anticipation of estimated demands on bank reserves during the summer and fall, taking account of probable private financing requirements, including the marketing of crops and replenishment of retail stocks in advance of the fall and Christmas sale seasons, as well as the Treasury's financing needs."

Prospects are that the treasury will borrow approximately 10 billion dollars to meet its cash needs between July and December.

Little Effect Here

Lincoln's three downtown banks holding membership in the Federal Reserve interpreted the board's announcement of a reduction in reserve requirements to be of little if any effect on the real credit picture in this area.

While the reduction is expected to release approximately 1 1/2 billion nationally for use in expanding loans and investments, Lincoln bankers agreed that ample supplies of credit exist here presently to accommodate the demand.

Howard Freeman, chairman of the Executive Committee of the First National Bank, estimated that the Federal Reserve's action will release an additional 1 1/2 million which will increase lending power several times that.

"We will feel the change mostly in national competition," he observed.

E. A. Becker, senior vice president of the Continental National Bank, said of the reserve change:

"Lincoln credit is well in hand. Credit needs are being well taken care of and there are ample reserves."

Glen Yaussi, senior vice president of the National Bank of Commerce, agreed that under present circumstances nothing happened to alter the real credit picture of the Lincoln area. However, he added that "should heavy unexpected demands arise we know that our position to meet them has been expanded."

Citizens Penal Committee Meets

Judge Landis Named Head Of Penal Study Committee

The governor's committee named to review administration of the adult penal institutions of the state held their first meeting Monday and named District Judge Harry D. Landis of Seward, chairman.

It was announced that Robert Samardick, former chief of police of Omaha, has resigned from the committee for personal reasons.

Judge Landis became interested in penology several years ago when he had himself incarcerated in the Iowa penitentiary for two weeks to learn what inmates think of the punishment imposed on them.

Dr. James M. Reinhardt is head of the sociology department at the University of Nebraska and professor of criminology. He has asked a one semester leave of absence to write books on criminology and continue his study of penal institutions. Twice a year he is an instructor at the FBI Academy in Washington, D. C.

Frank Weygint, Lincoln insurance executive, the third member of the committee, is a former deputy warden of the state penitentiary and for a number of years was a state sheriff.

Individual Studies

The committee decided that between now and Sept. 1, the individual members will study institutions in other states. Judge Landis plans to go to Michigan and Illinois and Dr. Reinhardt will be in North Carolina where he will instruct in summer school and plans to visit state and federal prisons.

Weygint will take advantage of business and vacation trips to visit other prisons. After Sept. 1, the committee plans to start their review of the three Nebraska institutions for adults, the penitentiary and men's reformatory in Lincoln and the women's reformatory at York.

"We will start our general survey of conditions in the institutions with no prejudices or opinions," Judge Landis said and the others confirmed his statement.

"No Limit" "There is no limit to the inquiry you find it advisable to make," Gov. Crosby told the members.

Dr. Reinhardt said they expect to start at the foundation or the "philosophy of operating penal institutions in the state" and continue with a study of education, health, rehabilitation and parole programs now in use.

The committee assured the governor that they would have a report ready for him before the first of the year with their recommendations. "In public institutions, it is proper for the governor to have committees report to the people on progress and operations," Dr. Reinhardt said after the governor assured the committee complete co-operation from the board of control, attorney general, pardon board and the institutions.

Time Measurement Still Big Problem

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (INS) — Astronomers can define a unit of time within one twenty-billionth of a second, but they aren't satisfied — too inaccurate.

Of the three standards used in pure science, the distance of a centimeter (the unit of length) has been measured precisely, as has been the gram, the unit of mass.

But the unit of time, the second, is a comparatively vague little thing.

Attempts to measure time with an atomic clock are now in progress at the National Bureau of Standards, but Prof. Dick Brouwer of Yale says that the most accurate measurements are still obtained by studying the rotation of the earth with the aid of observations of the moon and sun.

Brouwer writes in the Yale Scientific Magazine that for a long time astronomers were frustrated in their time measurements by variations in the length of the day.

Seems that in the 1870's days were about four one-thousandths of a second shorter than normal and that between 1902 and 1912 they were longer by about the same amount.

States Plan 'Joint Approach' To Mental Health Problems

Nebraska is about to join forces with other midwestern states in seeking solutions to current mental health problems, Gov. Robert Crosby announced Monday.

One of the problems to be tackled by the "joint approach" is that of training personnel to man mental institutions. Several midwestern states, including Nebraska, have reported difficulty obtaining psychiatrists and psychologists.

The possibility of the states sharing their training facilities is being eyed.

Pushing the interstate co-operation move is the Council of State Governments, a research agency which co-operates with states on problems of an interstate nature.

Nebraska's initial steps, Gov. Crosby said, will include:

1. Appointment of a statewide committee to survey training and research in the mental health field in Nebraska.
2. Appointment of three representatives to a midwestern regional committee on problems of mental health. These probably will include one member of the Nebraska Board of Control, one legislator and one Nebraska representative of the American Psychiatric Assn. Names of the appointees should be ready in a few days, the governor said.

Appointment of the two groups was asked in a letter received from Frank Bane, executive director of the Council of State Governments.

Crosby had said earlier he was thinking of naming a citizens committee to survey the mental health situation in Nebraska. The statewide committee suggested by the Council of State Governments will fill this role also, he said.

The statewide committee will report to the regional group in October, and the regional group in turn will report to the governors in November.

The "joint approach" idea grew out of a midwestern states mental health meeting held June 7 at Indianapolis.

Adjustments in pay scales also are being considered in Nebraska in connection with efforts to obtain staff members for the state's mental institutions.

Regional Conference Highlights Are Given

The June dinner meeting of the Lincoln Christian Business and Professional Women Council was held Monday evening at the YWCA.

"Conference Highlights" was a special feature presented by fifteen of the Council Women who attended the regional conference at St. Joseph, Mo., June 11-13. They are: Harriet Sutton, Jessamine Scott, Ethel Saxton, Doris Sutton, Shirley Kling, Harriet Hamilton, Retta Waggoner, Maude Wilcox, Jessie Givens, Mabel Clarke, Elsie Schafer, Marilyn Vestal, Clara Wipf, Flora Henkelmann and Dorothy Nott.

Sam Wall, accompanied by Thelma Donaldson, sang two vocal selections. Mrs. George Chenot from the City Mission gave a devotional talk.

Miss Harriet Sutton, chairman, presided over the meeting which was attended by seventy women.

Reynolds Resigns As Frontier Judge

CURTIS, Neb. — William A. Reynolds of Curtis has resigned as Frontier County judge due to ill health.

R. F. Phillips of Stockville has been appointed to the office and will serve until a successor is elected at the general election this fall.
